First learning about chemistry by using household chemicals to make volatile reactions, Lance was born to be a mad genius. Hungry for discovery and explosive action – whether he’s tinkering with his laptop or engaging himself in various sports – impossible is nothing to Lance.

While life is an endless pursuit to satisfy his curiosity and need for adventure, Lance finds no need to rush things often ambushing unsuspecting friends with jokes and gestures.

All this from the inconspicuously intense mad genius surprising you with his Joker-like smile just when you least expect it.

—I’ve come to the conclusion that if having things turn out the way you wanted them to is a measure of a successful life, then some would say I’m a failure. The important thing is not to be bitter over life’s disappointments. Learn to let go of the past and recognize that every day won’t be sunny. But when you find yourself lost in the darkness of despair, remember it’s only in the black of night that you can see the stars and those stars will lead you back home. So, don’t be afraid to make mistakes, to stumble and fall. Most of the time, the greatest rewards come from doing the things that scare you the most. Maybe you’ll get everything you wish for. Maybe, you’ll get more than you ever could’ve imagined. Who knows where life will take you. The road is long. And in the end, the journey is the destination.”

He has always been a shy person, but if you get to know him better, he can be welcoming and accommodating. He is a man whom you can talk to as he will surely listen.

He may be very serious but be ready as he could blurt out a joke that will surely tickle your tummy.

Aside from being your constant friend, he can also be your trusty tutor as he tries to free himself so that he can help others with their studies. You can count on him to accompany you when preparing for dreadful exams.

Finally, he is someone who tries to discover his true self. He does this by challenging himself with new activities and by constantly reflecting about his personality.
Elnar, Katrina Jean

To perceive the academic pursuit in terms of years is to witness it brief; to read it through experiences is to tread a mile-long trip. The learning I gained was not merely an education of the intellectual mind, but also, a growth of the holistic self. Beginning such scholarship was filled with arduous bending to fit into its demands. Even so, there was fun in exploring a new place, gaining new knowledge, and meeting new people. As my learning advanced, more awareness about reality were unfolded as I read them through lectures, even experienced them in actuality. I was provided with the proper avenues to become equipped with education within the present context. Now, leaving the academe creates a new arena to engross myself in, but the values and skills I earned through the Atenean education will render my new-found pursuits a momentous completion.

Nepomuceno, Ma. Cristine

It has not been an easy journey for me. But if I was granted to have a perfect college life, I would have to decline for such life has nothing to teach. I thank the fear and apprehensions I had for it introduced me to genuine friends who made my stay in college worthwhile. I am grateful to professors who supported and strengthened my principles.

When I look back to this write-up many years from now: I want to see my parent's names; Allan and Nelia Nepomuceno, who held me up and motivated me in every step of the way to my goal.

I want myself to go over this text: "Even to your old age and gray hairs I am He, I am He who will sustain you. I have made you and I will carry you; I will sustain you and I will rescue you." (Isaiahs 46:4)

Pasion, Lord Alec

Being the responsible and determined person that he is, Alec has the words achiever and successful reserved for him in the future. He literally does his tasks well, drawing his strength from his family, friends and bittersweet experiences, making the impossible happen amidst the challenges. Thus, it is with great certainty that Alec's efforts are never left unrewarded. He is a person who knows how to give back, showing the people dear to him that selfless persons still exist. For him, giving back means touching people's lives in quite immeasurable ways. He's a helper who never fails to offer a hand in every chance that comes his way. He's a great listener who'll make those whom he talks to never feel alone. He's a caring brother to most of the people he encounters. Put simply, Alec is but a great person one would never regret of knowing.

Te, Barbra Francine

The enchanting world of fairy tales has brought forth princesses that captured not only our eyes but our whole being. Such is the case of Barbie—a princess devoid of legal title, but is every bit as magical and as beautiful, as only myths can tell. She's like Belle: although not a bookworm, she bears a loving heart that could tame even the wildest of beasts. She has the perceptive mentality of Pocahontas—always seeking to learn new things, unafraid to challenge the orthodox. Her alluring charm is reminiscent of Jasmine's; while like Ariel, she is adventurous, always searching for uncharted waters. Only a few can attest that she is Aurora—a true "sleeping" beauty but not as desperate as to wait for her prince's kiss. In her presence, you need not kneel to take her hand. She'd rather take yours and thrust upon you the wonder and awe that only a true princess can offer.

Yap, Michelle Christine

“Silent but deadly” best describes Michelle. She may be shy, quiet and may even pass off as an introvert, but our very own modern “Maria Clara” can be the irresistibly warm ray of sunlight in the darkest of days. Her inner light and never fading smile can thaw one's worries and make them fade into the day. Her soft and congenial manner earns her the respect and love of her peers wherever she goes. As a friend, she is an avid listener and a mature adviser. She will always rush to a friend in need and give comfort the best way she can. A smart gal with the tenacity to succeed, this feisty Blue Eagle will never quit when faced with the toughest adversities. In circumstances where one will just simply give up and walk away, Michelle will strive to work harder to get to the finish line. A dreamer, a believer, and an achiever - that is Michelle Yap.
